While no additional credit hours are required for licensure, students must carefully attend to the particular classes needed by their state of choice.

Florida and Kentucky MFT license laws have different educational requirements:

Students who pursue MFT licensure in Florida must take CO601 Counseling Theories and Techniques (3), CO625 Recognizing and Treating Addictive Disorders (3), and CO627 Family Counseling Theory and Interventions (3).

Students who pursue MFT licensure in Kentucky must take CO615 Family Development: Discipleship in the Home (3) and CO616 Young and Middle Adult Development and Discipleship (3).
